Water, Waste Water and Drainage Policy Government Consultation

The Scottish Government opened a consultation on Water, Wastewater, and Drainage Policy seeking views on how the water industry, local authorities, and we as individuals need to adapt to the impacts of climate change both now and to be ready for the future. This is a great opportunity to make your voice heard at a governmental level, and to share the consultation with friends, family and stakeholders for their input and views. Have your say by taking part in the consultation until 21 Feb 2024.
